Not illustrated. 1920 Excerpt: .recommended for individual homes, either with or without a water supply, In all cases where sufficient land is available and the owner can afford the Investment of this amount. This is the most economical and satisfactory type of sanitary privy now in use when the cost of construction and operation is based on a five-year period and compared with other types. In towns with 300 homes or over, and unsewered, the can and box system, with an adequate scavenger service, is recommended. This system has already been introduced in a number of towns. The pit privy is considered the lowest type of sanitary privy possible and is recommended in only those cases where a higher type is out of the question. WORK CONTEMPLATED During the next fiscal year it is planned to extend the work until eighteen counties are included. At the conclusion of a year of work under this plan, It Is hoped that the beneficial results will be so apparent that means may be found to continue it in every county in which it has been undertaken, and that other counties will desire to adopt it. When the value of a sanitary officer has once been made apparent to the residents of a community, the permanent employment of such an official is assured. This will result in the saving of hundreds of lives and thousands of cases of sickness each year in the State of Virginia. STATEMENT OF APPROPRIATIONS For Rural Sanitation in Virginia...
