These fuels include natural gas, oil, anthracite and bituminous coal; and of course water power must be considered as a substitute for the fuels. Our supply of natural gas, once so plentiful, has been used with no thought of conservation, and as a result, to all intents and purposes, it is today practically exhausted. The use of natural gas is now a negligible factor in power production. Once we had so much of it that it was considered economy to leave the gas street-lights burning all day rather than to go to the expense of turning them off in the morning and lighting them again in the evening. This is merely one indication of how we threw away...
