Excerpt: . . . any sign of asthma, or any irregularity of circulation, he should never be submitted to the operation for stone. -Those who have been exposed to poverty, or have been obliged to labour for their bread, bear the operation well, and in those persons the chance of success is considerably greater than in the higher ranks of society, for they have mostly lived well, and drank freely, and when submitted to the operation, they frequently die under it. Great advantage will be derived from putting a patient, who is to be operated on for stone, on vegetable diet for a short time; for it is not right that he should be on full or animal diet. The time of life which is best fitted for this operation, is about sixty-one or sixty-two; and at this period, a great number of cases occur. From the age...
